

NON-DISCLOSURE STATEMENT

ABSL represents that the information we have requested from your Company will be used to prepare industry reports and the forwarded figures will be published exclusively in the form of aggregated statistics.

ABSL shall keep confidential any and all undisclosed data allowing for identification of your Company, including technical, technological, organisational and all other information of economic value related to your Company (“Confidential Information”). ABSL shall take all reasonable measures to ensure that no person processing the Confidential Information discloses the content or source thereof, in whole or in part, to any third persons without the prior explicit consent of the party providing the Confidential Information.

Submission of data is voluntary and the party providing the data shall be entitled to complete, update or correct the provided data, or to have it deleted, if such data is incomplete, outdated, untrue or has been collected in breach of law, or when it is no longer required for the purposes for which it was collected. The providing party may modify the collected data by sending a statement of will to the following address: research@absl.pl. At the same time, we hereby inform that ABSL will not be able to realize the above rights in case the provided data have already been used to prepare an industry report by ABSL.

ABSL hereby undertakes to use the data provided by your firm solely in an anonymous way, not allowing for identification or association of the data with your Company (unless upon your express, written consent), save for publically available information on the type of business activity conducted by your firm. In any case, ABSL hereby undertakes not to use or disclose any data constituting the Confidential Information.

However, please note that ABSL may disclose Confidential Information to the minimum extent necessary in connection with:

- applicable regulations (binding regulations) or upon demand of public administration bodies authorised to request the disclosure of such information;
- decisions of an arbitration court, court of law or administrative court in relation to pending proceedings to which ABSL is a party.

At the same time, ABSL shall give an effort to inform your Company about every situation, when the disclosure of Confidential Information is necessary, according to the above provisions, before such disclosure.

ABSL shall not be liable for any information published, publicly known and officially disclosed to the public without any breach of the provisions hereof.
